FORD WILL ISSUE CLEAR CUT STATEMENT SOON

Large Budget Sought By The Chamber Of Commerce

PAID SECRETARY TO BE EMPLOYED

Membership Campaign
Begins Tuesday
Over the Cities

KEY MEN TO BE NAMED LATER

Every Area in the Twin Cities to Be Covered by the Solicitors

Beginning Tuesday of next week the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce will go after a budget sufficient to enable the chamber to employ a paid secretary, and to furnish some financial support to the Albany-Decatur concert band.

The directors of the chamber have authorized a meeting for Monday night of next week at the rooms of the chamber in the Colonial building. At this meeting "twenty-five key men" with the directors of the board of directors of the chamber will be selected whose duty it will be to secure enough applications for membership in the chamber to insure a budget of $10,000.

The big slogans of the workers are to be: "A paid secretary for the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce, and keep the Albany-Decatur concert band going."

A meeting of the board of directors of the chamber was held at the Colonial building Wednesday night, with the following present: C. W. Matthews, F. G. Cook, W. E. Roper, H. B. Beard, J. C. White and W. W. Rahm. Mr. Rahm being president of the chamber and chairman of the board of directors.

Owing to illness, Messrs. J. H. Calvin and Russell Speake were unable to be present.

In speaking of last night's meeting Mr. Rahm said:

"The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The membership campaign was discussed and a meeting called for Monday night at 7 o'clock at the chamber of commerce rooms."

Twenty-five men with the directors of the chamber as master key men will constitute a membership committee and be given territory to work and will be expected to work. A larger list than ever has been assembled for solicitation with the two big slogans, a paid secretary and keep the Albany-Decatur concert band going."

"The key men will start the work on Tuesday morning and will continue until every party on their lists has been seen. They will report back Tuesday night re-check and report results."

"It is expected that a budget of $10,000 will be worked out."

At its meeting last night the directors instructed the president to contract for the present quarters for the ensuing year.

DR. BATEMAN WILL CONDUCT REVIVAL

Beginning April 1, the Decatur Baptist church will open a revival meeting for two weeks duration or longer, the preaching for the revival to be by Dr. R. J. Bateman, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Asheville, N. C.

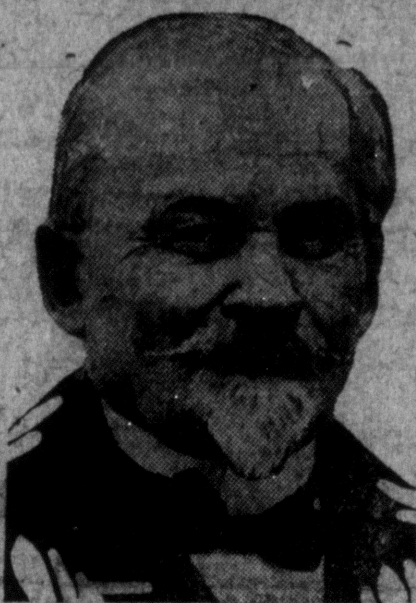

Dr. Bateman is well known throughout Alabama. At one time he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Troy. He is recognized as an able platform speaker and a deeply spiritual man. For two years the pastor of the Decatur Baptist church and the congregation have been making unsuccessful efforts to secure Dr. Bateman to assist in a revival and much gratification is expressed at the decision to Dr. Bateman to come to Decatur.

Committees are already at work making plans for the coming revival stated Dr. C. C. Davison, the pastor, who added that a spirit of cooperation and helpfulness prevailed throughout the membership.

AUDIENCE PLEASED BY "THE HOODOO"

"The Hoodoo" as given at the Masonic theater last night by eighteen students of the Albany city schools, most of whom were drawn from the high school grades, was entertaining to a high degree as was evidenced by the close attention given by the large audience and the frequent shouts of laughter heard.

Not a hitch was noticeable in the three acts of the play and every one taking part showed marked ability thereby reflecting great credit upon themselves and upon the director of the comedy, Miss Gladys Bernardi, who evidently trained the young actors and actresses with painstaking care.

Before the curtain was raised in behalf of the students who staged the play and Miss Bernardi, Prof. C. D. Wade, Superintendent of the Albany schools, made a brief address in which he thanked the Morgan Furniture company for supplying the furniture for the stage, the merchants and others who assisted in getting tasteful programs printed, Miss Johnson, who played the piano for the occasion, and all others who contributed to the success of the student's undertaking."

Prof. Wade thanked the members of the audience for their attendance and said he took the large turnout as an evidence of interest and loyalty felt in the city schools.

Mr. Wade in closing quoted the great dramatist, "The play is the thing" and announced "The Hoodoo."

The time of the play was during the year 1923, and in costume and style the players were thoroughly up-to-date. Nearly every character was either a student, lately a student, or a professor.

The love affairs of college life and of all life had their place in the comedy and a large place. Love making seemed to come quite natural to the young entertainers, and as end all good plays "they got married," that is the "true lovers" did, those seeking money and social advantages getting "left."

The "Hoodoo" of the play was declared to have been a "scarab" a charm of the ancient Egyptians and when it was buried all went well.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Jan. 17—The Shenandoah, largest airship in the world, poked her nose into her hangar at the naval air station at 4:24 o'clock this morning, after completing the most remarkable flight a ship of her type ever made.

The flight was a fight against the most stubborn elements of nature, a wind that blew at 72 miles an hour at times, and swept her on a mad chase up the Atlantic coast to Staten Island New York city where Captain Heinen, in command when she broke away, turned her nose into the teeth of the storm and maneuvered her back to her home port.

Not a man in the crew of 22 was injured. Not a man was downhearted. Each of them declared it was the finest trip he had ever made and each was loud in his praise of the navy's pride.

They took it as a joke and won the envy of their mates, who watched them drift away into the darkness. The ship lay in her hangar, like a naughty schoolboy, whose truancy had brought him ill luck, and she was somewhat scratched up, her nose slightly battered.

A hasty inspection showed that her front castles, or gas bags, had collapsed when she was torn away by the wind. The covering of her upper fin had been stripped off and wrapped about the rudder, making the craft exceedingly difficult to steer.

Captain Heinen, who had seen the Shenandoah built and who had tried more than 100 aircrafts on their maiden voyages, said after he had landed, without a doubt the navy's was the strongest constructed ship of her type ever made.

"I do not believe any other ship in which I have flown would have successfully gone through the gale she did last night," he said. "There is absolutely no doubt she will complete her polar region flight next month. We will not likely experience such a terrific storm as was raging along the Atlantic coast yesterday. If we do, we can easily enough run around it."

"We had the ship under perfect control within five minutes after the nose cap was torn off. We rose 500 feet and continued at that elevation, until we reached the coast near Summit, N. J. where we went up to about 1,200 feet. The flying conditions were unfavorable as it was raining hard."

Post Office Will Have More Light

In order to furnish better facilities for handling the mail at the Albany postoffice, especially as regard better light, the office of the postmaster L. E. Hule is being moved from the north side of the large general room of the office and are to be placed near the west opening of the post office building. Such an arrangement will admit considerably more daylight.

HOME AGENT ASKED BY FARM PARLEY

Resolutions Adopted by the Conference at Hartselle

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

One of the Greatest Gatherings Ever Held in County

By Staff Correspondent.

HARTSELLE, Ala., Jan. 17—By Long Distance Telephone to The Daily—The County-wide meeting here of farmers and business men of Morgan County today asked the county board of revenue to procure the services of a home demonstration agent, and then launched into a full discussion of the other problems facing the agriculture interests in this section.

At a late hour the meeting had before it the recommendations of a committee, which met before the conference was formally opened. These recommendations touched on all phases of the farm problems and sought to find the means for "safe farming."

The committee which drafted the recommendations was composed of P. P. Gilchrist, C. C. Graves, W. R. Shelton, M. D. Wiggins, H. L. Burleson, J. C. Ford and James F. Cain, chairman.

The meeting was called to order at ten o'clock this morning. The room was comfortably filled with farmers, bankers, business men and others interested in the objects of the meeting. It was one of the most representative gatherings of farmers probably ever held in the county.

James F. Cain president of the Morgan County Farm Bureau, called the conference to order and presided. In his opening remarks, he stressed the necessity for concerted and united action to overcome the difficulties facing the farmers of the county.

Soon after the conference opened, it resolved itself into an open meeting and many were the suggestions offered, informally, by those attending.

A. Bloodworth, president of the Morgan County National bank, spoke briefly, pledging the cooperation of the financial institutions to any "safe plan" which might be evolved for betterment of the condition of the farmers of the county. He assured the farmers the banks were willing and ready to do their full share toward solving these problems and overcoming them.

A committee, composed of P. P. Gilchrist, Dr. H. C. McRee and E. A. Bloodworth was named to draft resolutions, urging the board of revenue to provide a share of the funds to employ a home demonstration agent. The committee reported the following resolutions, which were adopted.

"Whereas, at a county-wide meeting of representative farmers, business men and bankers, from the different sections of Morgan County, held at Hartselle, Alabama, on January 17, 1924, it was shown to the meeting that a direct financial benefit would result to the farmers of Morgan County from the services of a home demonstration agent,

"Be it resolved, that this meeting earnestly requests the board of revenue of Morgan County to make an appropriation and to take such other action as necessary to procure a home demonstration agent for Morgan County."

Afterward a petition was circulated, and generally signed, asking the board of revenue to make the necessary appropriations.

Among those attending the meeting from the Twin Cities and environs were: W. B. Edmundson, P. P. Gilchrist, George Russell, E. W. Bussey, J. H. Crow, A. A. Jones, Judge William E. Skeggs, W. R. Shelton and F. A. Bloodworth.

Dr. W. E. Ellsberry, district field service agent for the Alabama farm bureau cotton association, F. O. Sherrill, Fordson farm implements representative and J. T. High, of Auburn, also were present, while Grocer C. Graves, of the First National bank of Hartselle, Editor Matt D. Wiggins, of

TO MAKE DESIRES ON SHOALS KNOWN

Kahn Announces That Manufacturer to State Attitude

MERRILL BEFORE THE COMMITTEE

Congress Not Obligated to Give More Time For Proposals

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Chairman Kahn told the house military affairs committee today he had been assured a clean cut statement "would be forthcoming from the Ford interests by next Tuesday, defining their present attitude toward Muscle Shoals."

Mr. Kahn also announced that all bids for the project should be in by that time as the committee was determined to speed action.

The chairman's statement with reference to the Ford bid was prompted by doubts expressed by several committeemen, as to whether Mr. Ford now desired to obtain control of the properties. He said he had communicated with the Ford interests and had been definitely told they would outline their attitude.

The committee, after hearing other statements, adjourned until Tuesday. Mr. Kahn made brief references to obtaining some statement from Mr. Ford after C. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the federal power commission, had told the committee that if he bid he would be able "to generate 1,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of the cheapest power anywhere, not excepting Niagara Falls."

"Isn't it surprising," put in Representative McKenzie, republican Illinois, "if it is true that other interests have been more active in trying to get power development rights at Muscle Shoals?"

"Those who would like to generate power there don't care to guarantee the manufacture of nitrate," added Mr. Merrill, adding that Mr. Ford had submitted the only offer for both power development and the making of nitrate.

"I've heard that other offers, which would call for nitrate production will be submitted," he continued, "but they are not in yet."

Mr. Merrill expressed the opinion that congress, in considering the possibility of obtaining additional orders for the Muscle Shoals properties should be guided only by desire to obtain more advantageous bids for the government.

The whole question has been pending so long, he added, that congress was under no obligation to give "other interests time to submit bids."

Mr. Merrill endorsed provisions of the Dickens bill, which would give the federal power commission jurisdiction over the Muscle Shoals plant, regardless of who purchases it and expressed opposition to leasing of the project for more than 50 years.

It may not be possible to live so as to avoid suspicion; but it is possible to live so as to cause the suspicion to be ill founded.

No wonder the "get-rich-quick" are opposed to all sharing alike in property, as such would then have no way to feel themselves distinguished.

If any of the women have taken advantage of the present one being leap year and made a wedding proposal, it was evidently not for publication.

Those who made the offer against Ford will doubtless raise their bid since it is shown to be lower than Uncle Henry's. Besides, Henry is not exactly a pauper if the Shoals are to be auctioned off.

A passer-by noticing the silent policeman rolled to the gutter. Thoughts of other laws written in a dusty statute book, buried in the farthest corner and stretched to the pleasure of the wills or men. Wondering why laws were made.

LEADERS OF THOUGHT ARE FOR ENTRY INTO WORLD COURT

The National Economic League has asked the United States Senate to vote for the entry of the United States into the World Court. According to a referendum vote mailed out to the members of the league, as now made public 91 per cent of the members are for the World Court.

The referendum submitted was as follows:
"Should the United States Senate at this session of Congress promptly give its advice and consent to admission by the United States to the protocol of the permanent court of international justice on the terms proposed by President Harding on February 24, 1923?"

The ballots showed only 155 against the court to 1,601 in favor of it.

Given by states wherein the league has a membership it appears from the vote that all sections of the nation are for the league. In the states of Oregon, Rhode Island, North Carolina, Idaho and Michigan, all members of the league who voted were for entry into the court. In New Mexico there were 15 "yeas" and 9 "nays."

The object of the league is stated, as not political, but as "for education and for expression on national questions."

The league is affiliated with economic clubs all over the country. The national council of the league has a membership of 3,500, all said to be elected "solely with a view to their standing or qualifications as leaders of public opinion."

All kinds of political and religious faiths are said to be represented in the league. The conclusions of such a body should and doubtless will have great weight throughout the entire country, and also in the Senate of the United States.

NATIONAL WEALTH

The Census Bureau is adding up the total wealth of the United States. Unofficial guesses give from three hundred billion dollars to four hundred billion dollars. The official estimate will probably be somewhere between those limits.

Suppose it is $3,500,000,000—or to put it in more understandable words, 350 billions, which is 350 thousand millions. That is a fine, big sum to roll off the tongue. It is just about twice the estimated wealth of the country's lands, mines, forests, buildings, railroads, etc., back in 1912.

Not that the wealth of the country has really doubled in a decade. Most of the increase is the result of higher prices and the lower purchasing power of the dollar which does the measuring. A cheaper dollar makes the wealth look bigger in figures than it is actually. But there has been a huge intrinsic gain, in spite of the war losses. And at the present time the riches of this blessed land are rolling up with unprecedented rapidity.

market, as almost the whole of Europe, and probably more than Asia and Africa together.

This fact in itself shows some interesting things about wealth. Wealth, it appears, is not a matter of area, nor of population, nor even of material resources. If it were area alone, Canada would be as rich, instead of less than one-tenth as rich. If population alone, Asia would be far richer. If resources alone, Africa would be richer.

Population is essential; also land. After that, national wealth depends on the kind of people that make the nation. It is product of brains, character and energy, using the earth and its contents merely as materials and instruments.

Our real wealth is our inhabitants. Put the American people on another continent, and there would soon be a new America.—Tuscaloosa News.

FRANKLIN, THE EDITOR

Thoughts of Benjamin Franklin always vision him to us as a printer, a statesman and philosopher. He has never been given his proper place among our great editors. However, he would no doubt, be the first to belittle this idea. It was probably his ability to measure his own shortcomings that makes him stand out more and more each year as great.

The chief attribute of both leadership and editorship is satisfaction with the yesterdays and pleasures and hopes for the tomorrows. In the case of Franklin it found most complete expression in his self-written epitaph. He says:

"The body of Benjamin Franklin, printer, (like the cover of an old book, its contents torn out, and stripped of its lettering and gilding) lies here food for worms. Yet the work itself shall not be lost, for it will (as he believes) appear once more in a new and more beautiful edition corrected and amended by the author."

No matter how much Franklin may have disclaimed his natural bent to editorship, it is true that his leadership and his lasting hold on American opinion was obtained through the printed word.

Many of the knacks of the modern successful editor were his. He was probably the first of all American newspaper men to recognize power of the picture and cartoon. He, more than any other American editor, was responsible for the political cartoon as a weapon in time of battle, when victory was dependent upon the influencing of public opinion. He was responsible for the famous snake cartoon in which that reptile was pictured as being divided into thirteen parts, and which played such a prominent part in welding together the thirteen original colonies and making possible this republic.

There is no one of the fathers of this country whose writings left for posterity are so rich in the common sense idealism which was the guiding factor in laying down the principles upon which this republic was born.

At this time when the entire nation is giving its attention to the peace plan of Edward W. Bok, another editor and another Philadelphian by adoption, it is well for us to turn back the pages to the days of the first struggle for independence and read again the thoughts and the ideals expressed by that first outstanding moulder of public opinion, Benjamin Franklin, who wrote at the birth of this nation:

"I join with you most cordially in the return of peace. I hope it will be lasting, and that mankind will at length, as they call themselves responsible creatures, have reason enough to settle their differences without cutting throats; for, in my opinion, there never was a good war nor a bad peace. What past additions to the conveniences and comforts of life might mankind have acquired, if the money spent in wars had been employed in works of unity."

"What an extension of agriculture, even to the tops of the mountains; what rivers rendered navigable, or joined by canals; what bridges, aqueducts, new roads, and other public works, edifices and improvements, rendering England a complete paradise, might not have been ordained by spending those millions in doing good, which in the last war have been spent in doing mischief—in bringing misery into thousands of families and destroying the lives of so many working people, who might have performed the useful labors."

That was not written by an idealist, a propagandist, or a radical in 1924, but by one of the greatest of the fathers who dreamed and conceived the nation in 1776. What Benjamin Franklin wrote then is true today—he was a great editor and publisher.

Officials of the farm bureau are: James F. Cain, president; E. W. Bussey, first vice president; B. P. Collier, second vice president; E. L. Hayes, superintendent of education of Morgan County, secretary.

Several measures were recommended to conserve and build up the fertility of the soil, in the series of recommendations suggested by the committee and adopted by the meeting.

Careful consideration was suggested for cotton, but it was urged that every farm make provision for growing all the food and feed crops needed on that farm. Early planting of cotton also was one of the suggestions. Close watching of rank-growing cotton was urged as a step to combat the leaf caterpillar and it was recommended that every farm have a supply of poison on hand for the pests.

Attention to small grain crops, gardens and orchards, and poultry was urged. The production of dairy products also was asked of farmers, as well as greater attention to stock.

Cooperative marketing was approved and cooperative buying of many articles. The boys and girls club work was endorsed.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment of Colds, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nausealess calomel tablets call ed Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all!—no interference with your eating. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, slight pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size. (Advt.)

Revelations of a Wife

Mother Graham Began to Outline Her Plan.

MOTHER GRAHAM gave a quick look at me, then her gaze traveled to Lillian. "You think, then," she said, following Mrs. Greenwood's last comment, "that Harriet is trying to fill Elizabeth's place with the children?" "Can there be a doubt of it?" Lillian asked quietly, and this time when her eyes met mine, we simultaneously turned them away. I knew the reason for that averted gaze, knew that the same thought had come to both of us, a thought that assumed treachery to my dead sister-in-law. But there was no blinking the fact that Harriet Brathwaite, if she would let herself go, would be a far better mother to the orphaned Harrison children than her sister ever had been. They would know more love and tender, unselfish care in one week of their aunt's regime, than in a year of their own mother's. But we could not say that or betray even our thought, before the beloved old mother who lay looking up at me, although I guessed that much of her sorrow lay in the fact that she had long ago learned that her younger daughter's shortcomings, which had not given her the same intense love which she had bestowed upon Harriet and Dicky. There is no grief so poignant as that which is threaded with remorse, even though the one bereaved has full justification for all past actions and reactions. Something to Discuss. There was something other than grief and remorse, however, in the shrewd old eyes looking keenly at Lillian and me. "No, there can be no doubt Harriet is doing her best," Harriet's mother said slowly at last, "but there's something about this thing which I want to discuss with you girls, something we've got to do as soon as they all get here. But that will wait a few minutes. What did you find out about Katie Margaret?" I debated with myself an instant, and then decided it might divert her mind to tell her the truth. "I found her in the haymow with her apron over her shoulder, and the fact that you were going to die."

THE MONKEY PLANS NEW INVASION OF SOCIETY.

GERTRUDE—The very first I have seen, Marie. The minute I laid eyes on this fan in the shop I knew that it would go with my new evening gown. And the fact that it is fringed with monkey fur made me all the more certain that I must have it. This is the first time that I have ever seen this fur put to such use.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl, seventeen years of age, and have been going with a young man one year my senior for about one year. He asked me to marry him, but although I love him dearly, I asked him to wait a couple of years for me as we were both so young. He has bought me an engagement ring and we have been engaged for more than two months. When I asked him to wait, he said he would, but went away and never wrote. I am worried, for I love him and still have the ring. Please advise me whether I should wait for him to write or send the ring to his home.

LONESOME BETTY.

LONESOME BETTY: The young man has acted very strangely. But you are both far too young to marry, and so I suggest that you return the ring and break the engagement.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I have been interested in your column for some time and now find it necessary to write to you for advice.

We are two girls, seventeen and nineteen years old. We both love the same young man, who calls on us and treats us equally well. We have come to the conclusion that this must be stopped as our love is getting deeper day by day. Please advise us what to do as we are very dear friends and would not like to hurt each other.

PEG AND PAT.

PEG AND PAT: Why don't you both decide to think of the young man only as a friend? He evidently thinks of you as friends. No doubt he would be very much surprised were he to learn of your attitude.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I have met a young man whom I consider a very good friend of mine. He has called on me several times and seems to be very nice. When he calls on me we usually finish the evening by going out for a ride. I know it is proper to thank him, but shall I ask him to call again, if I want to see more of him?

GOOD-NATURED.

GOOD-NATURED: Yes, ask the young man to call again.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl, eighteen years old. I am going with a young man two years my senior. He comes six miles to see me every month. I know he loves me and I love him. But whenever we are together he asks me why I will not kiss him. I never know what to say.

BOBBIE.

BOBBIE: Tell the young man that since you are not engaged to him you cannot allow him this privilege.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

The Ex-Maid Servant Who Captivated the Great Nelson.

THE woman who uses her beauty as a ladder upon which to climb to success is considered a somewhat modern institution. In the annals of the current day she is not doing as well as in the past. The professions and arts which have sprung up between men and women with the feminine entry into the game of earning a livelihood. It's a matter of all being fair in love, war and money-making, according to the amended theory. As a matter of record, however, the woman who calculatedly uses her charms to assist her way to achievement is by no means new. Throughout the history of femininity she has figured in some degree. But it was during the last of the seventeen hundreds that she came to the fore as a startling example of what may be accomplished by cool exploitation of personal attraction. Her name became Lady Emma Hamilton during the course of her career. But she started out as the daughter of a poverty-stricken serving-woman, and she herself was a servant at the age of thirteen. Ambition clutched her before she had been on her own for long. She sought to better herself by forsaking the country and moving to London, where she found employment as a maid at an inn. There she attracted the attention of a quack doctor. He exhibited her, in connection with his wares,

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

In the Middle Ages one curious use of the "black art" was to make miniature wax models of persons against whom one had a grudge. Pins were then stuck into the figures in the malicious belief that the living persons would feel pain or become diseased in the places pricked and finally pine away altogether.

During the Civil War, period some of the publishers of Southern newspapers, unable to get printer's ink, printed their sheets with ordinary shoe-black.

The first dies used in making coins were wedge-shaped. The name coin itself is believed by many to have been derived from the Latin word caenus, meaning wedge.

Every year the paper mills of this country turn out an amount of newspaper equivalent to a strip as wide as the ordinary daily newspaper and extending half the distance to the sun. And "Old Sol" is 32,000,000 miles away.

During the last sixteen years there have been proposed in Congress a total of 179,902 new laws.

The railroads of the United States use about 125,000,000 new wooden ties each year. That number of ties would be enough for the building of 40,000 miles of road.

About half a billion dollars are spent by the American public every year for soft drinks.

New York City did a total post-office business last year of approximately $3,500,000, or about 9 per cent of the entire mail business of the United States.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

The Revolutionized, Labor-Saving Laundry.

FROM the wooden wash-tub, wringer, washboard and sundries to the equipment of the modern laundry would make quite an interesting movie as the evolution from the first, like of motor to the finished product of today. Women working doing the laundry wash in those days. They work still, but in a quite different way. The modern invention by supplying electricity to the work by means of which the task may be done. The up-to-date private home laundry, where a laundress who understands the device is constantly employed, has the best type of washing-machine, large and small stationary ironing-boards and bosom and sleeve boards. The latter boards are electrically heated. The shirts done at home if they are properly ironed. There are also roller-type ironing-machine for heavy work, known as a mangle, and several types of "irons" of different weights. The laundry is "plugged" for the attaching of all these conveniences to the electric current, so that only the machinery in use need be supplied with current at one time.

This up-to-date laundry also includes drying-closets large enough to accommodate the wash, if not all at one time, in two or more relays, instead of stopping labor, simply keeps the ironing comfortably busy. The new types of clothes-horses are also available. One variety of clothes-horse is stationary and the spokes lift like an umbrella. This is a very convenient type. Also, the clothes-horse that has horizontal bars which, after they are loaded, are raised to the ceiling by a pulley, so that the clothes are out of the way while drying overhead. All these elaborate machines have "kicks" slip-covers to protect them when they are not in use. This year must understand her mechanical helpers if she is to get the best results. The expense of establishing an elaborate laundry of this type is great, but clothes properly cared for have double the length of life that they would otherwise have. Also, particular persons prefer to have their clothing washed at home, where they are sure that their more deleterious products added to the water in which they are washed. Unfortunately, we cannot all of us afford laundry of the type described, yet most of us can approach it in a modest way, which will answer our requirements. First, we should see to it that our laundry is well lighted and airy room. This should be part of our building fore-sight. Then, it should be well ventilated for plumbing. If there is no laundry stove, see to it that there is a practical way of warming the floor is painted and finished with a waterproof varnish, if maybe kept clean with but little effort. The walls should be finished in the same way, then they may be washed down frequently.

The washing-machine is the first thing to install, and its type should be the best one can afford. It does not cost a great deal to put in a stationary ironing-board with plugs for irons and a convenient light overhead. The bosom board and sleeve board for the shirts need not be the new type and electrified, as these are very expensive additions, but the old familiar sort may be used as a makeshift. If we cannot afford to install elaborate new ones, and a drying-closet is not a necessity. Indoor pulley lines that reel into wall boxes will do very well and if the boxes are allowed to dry overnight the work can go forward without serious delay. Heavily-felted linens covered with fine, unbleached muslin will give greater satisfaction than the old-fashioned blanket and sheet covered boards. Also, the new coverage tie-on with tapes so they may be removed and laundered.

There are a dozen and a half types of electric irons at almost as many prices, but in choosing get them in different weights. For instance, a heavy iron at six pounds, a medium for all-around work and a small one for baby things, collars and laces are advisable.

GABY and I were asked to model at a fashion show at one of the smart hotels. "It's to be given Saturday morning and the proceeds are to go to charity," we explained to Madame. "And you want to know if I will let you off for the morning?" she asked. "Just that," we replied. "Well, I can't refuse your request when charity is the cause," Madame said. "Besides," she added, "there will be many people there who bought tickets for it just to help the good cause, and I would like them to see the best manikins in New York."

We felt greatly complimented at this, and quite determined to do what we could to make the fashion show a success. Saturday morning found us wending our way to the smart hotel with small bags containing street and evening slippers, earrings and various accessories that the gowns would call for. I dressed in the simple white crepe I was to model first, and then proceeded to help Gabby into her frock. "I was a chance to see how this is made," I remarked, holding the slim tomato colored velvet so she could proceed to enter it, head first. "These frocks that pull on over the head are an awful nuisance, but they do look well when on," Gabby gasped from the depths of the frock. "I helped pull it down in place, and noticed how perfectly the slim, straight frock fitted her."

"It's quite nicely made," Gabby informed me. "Yes, but it took an artist to think out these little touches," Gabby replied. "Look at this ducky black velvet trim that extends just part way around the hem," she said. "It is cunning," I agreed. "It's simply a miniature edition of the deeper trim that is so smart."

"This silver embroidery is stunning, both against the tomato velvet

YOUR HEALTH

Health-Teaching Program Suitable for Your Schools

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A FEW nights ago I heard a striking address made by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, Superintendent of Public Schools in the city of Washington. He outlined what seems to be a desirable health-teaching program. These are the six points which appeal to Dr. Ballou as the essentials in this matter:

1. Medical inspection and examination of each pupil on admission to school.
2. A record of the physical defects revealed as a result of such examination.
3. The correction of physical defects by the school nurses, family physician, or dentists.
4. Appropriate instruction in health teaching, emphasizing health habits rather than anatomy of the body.
5. A systematic course in health teaching extending through the elementary and high schools.

The course should be (a) recreational, (b) remedial, and (c) progressive from grade to grade.

6. Reasonable insistence on satisfactory correcting of physical defects for promotion from grade to grade and graduation, the same as in other subjects taught in elementary and high schools.

This is an ambitious program, impossible in small school systems where funds are not available. In Washington and in every American city of like size, or even considerably smaller, such a program is ideal. There can be no doubt that this plan is a workable one. It should be put in effect if the money can be found.

Every community should be educated to the point of being anxious to guard against disease by raising up young people who have been trained in health. In small towns or in rural communities this program must be carried out by volunteers. If the teacher has had the advantage of training in physical culture, she can do a lot of these things herself. With the cooperation of the parents many defects can be overcome without expense to the school district.

Let me suggest that the teacher invite the local doctors to visit her some afternoon at the end of school hours. Ask their aid in carrying out a health program. They will gladly advise and perhaps will volunteer to give the necessary examinations. If the school board will attend the little meeting, the teacher will have a very important group, the nucleus of a health movement which will mean much to the health of that community. Then, with the moral support of the ministers, the women's organizations, and the mothers, it won't be long before the fathers are in line for a real forward movement for health.

Answers to Health Questions.

1. L. Q.—Will you please tell me whether it is beneficial to take an olive oil bath?

2. Is it harmful to put witch-hazel, diluted with water, in the eye?

3. It is beneficial to take an olive oil bath occasionally.

4. It is not advisable to put witch-hazel in the eyes. If you have trouble with your eyes, you should consult an eye specialist.

M. J. J. Q.—Will you kindly tell me whether lemon juice is injurious to the hair and, if so, what is good to use when washing the hair?

A.—Lemon juice used excessively is injurious to the hair. It would be more advisable to use a good soap, such as castile.

P. E. H. Q.—I have been ill for six years and it has not improved. What can I do to remedy this condition?

A.—I would suggest that you try to stand up straight, join a gymnasium and take exercises. If this does not help you consult a physician for an examination and treatment.

A CONSTANT READER. Q.—Will you kindly recommend a remedy for chapped lips?

A.—I would suggest that you apply camphorated vaseline or cold cream to the lips to improve their condition.

G. H. T. A. Q.—Will you kindly tell what to do for hard calluses on the soles of my feet?

A.—Bathe your feet in warm water for fifteen minutes each night. After drying thoroughly, apply a pad of cotton that has been dipped in warm linseed oil, to the affected parts and allow it to remain on overnight. In the morning bathe your feet again and scrape away the dead skin.

S. M. H. Q.—Will you kindly tell me what causes stammering and how to cure this condition?

A.—This is sometimes caused by nervousness and other times by habit. You should practice reading aloud very slowly for one-half hour each day. When you are conversing try to make a habit of talking slowly.

W. R. B. Q.—What causes one to blush?

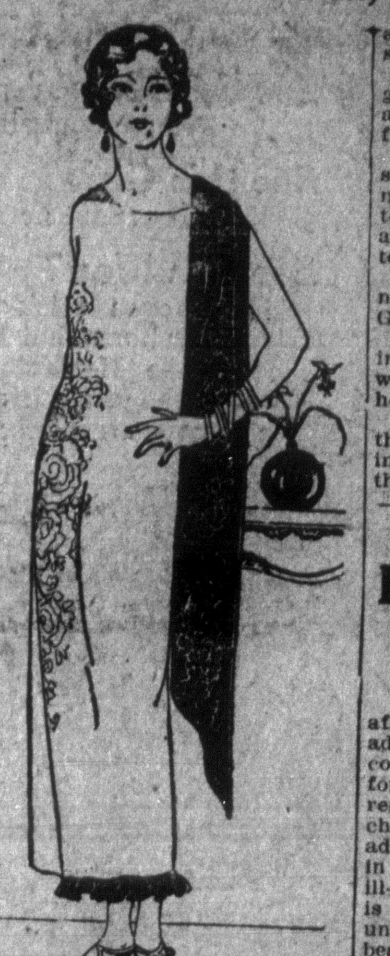

A.—This is due more or less to self-consciousness. When in the presence of others think less about yourself and cultivate poise and self-assurance.

of the frock and the black velvet of the scarf," Gabby commented. She referred to running vine designs that extended down the frock and scarf and made the frock seem slimmer than ever. "I must see where this scarf begins," I said, retreating behind Gabby and examining the neck of the frock.

I saw that the slim, black velvet scarf sprang from the front of the neckline at the right shoulder, extended along the back of the neck and dropped over the left shoulder to the frock.

"And will you look at these cunning shoes that go with the frock!" Gabby exclaimed.

She was thrusting her little feet into gorgeous tomato velvet slippers with silver edges and rhinestone heels.

It was just about time to go in on the stage, and she hastily scowled in some silver earrings that gave the finishing touch to the ensemble.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18.

A generally inauspicious state of affairs must be based on this day's adverse lunar and mutual planetary configurations. It may prove unfortunate to attempt any important removal, change or journey, and a change of employment may be placed in jeopardy either by speculation or ill-secured investment, since Jupiter is unpropitious situation; therefore the best advice is to remain quiet and keep a firm grasp on affairs in hand.

Those whose birthday it is should attend strictly to business, shunning speculation and postponing important change or journey. Those in the employment of others are enjoined to be careful of their positions. A child born on this day may be restless unless it is carefully trained. It should be equipped to surmount many difficulties in life.

MOCK WEDDING AT HIGH SCHOOL.

During the chapel hour at the Decatur High school on Lafayette street this morning, the following mock wedding was given under the direction of Miss Agnes Cassells for the benefit of the High school annual. Over thirty dollars was realized and on request the playlet will be given on Friday evening in the auditorium of this same school at 8 p. m.

A vocal solo by Miss Arthur Dix was first on the program and she sang "I love You Truly." About this time the jilted lover, Miss Oscar Morrow and mother, Mrs. Edwin Lewis, were ushered in, the ushers being Messrs. Jenny Thompson and Edith Woodward. To the strains of the wedding march with Miss Marjory Pointer at the piano, the preacher, Rev. Ethel Lanier, headed the bridal procession which wended its way up two aisles and crossed and marched up to the stage, where they took their places on either side of the bride and groom. The ushers and the bridesmaids, Misses Tom Collier and Horace Lovin, came next and they were followed by Mrs. Mildred Silverman, the matron of honor and Miss Gilbert Scruggs, the maid of honor. Babye Bess Bailey and Aileen Moseley were the dainty little flower girls and Master Skeggs Crawford was ring bearer. The groom, Mr. Louise Flemming was attended by his best man, Mr. Agnes Giles, and as they entered from one side, the bride, Miss Percy Edwards came in from the other side on the arm of her father, Mr. Gertrude Griffin. The little Norton twins, Percy and Pauline were train bearers. After they had all assembled on the stage the mock ceremony was read amid much merriment. As a gift to the bride, the groom sang "Wedding Bells" to her.

The brides bouquet, one dozen roses was auctioned to the highest bidder by Miss Arthur Dix.

The same cast will take part on Friday evening, the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gray will move the latter part of the week to the Pickens apartment on Johnston street.

In the main dining room of the Lyons, covers were laid for seventy five guests. The table was artistically decorated with pink carnations, and the seven appetizing courses served by Manager Glass were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. J. D. Garren acted as toastmaster until unavoidably called from the table when Mr. Thomas Hodson graced the chair in his usual pleasant and agreeable manner. The spirit of comradeship and hearty goodfellowship were evident during the entire evening.

Talks were made by the Worthy Patron, J. Block, and by Messrs. D. C. Vohlers, F. M. Robertson, and Mrs. J. T. Nelson, concerning the work of the Eastern Star and of this chapter in particular. Short talks were also made by many others giving expression of their appreciation of the gracious hospitality of their Worthy Matron, Miss Unity Dancy and of her sister, Miss Mary Lou Dancy for whom this chapter was named.

Cause of Rheumatism at Last Discovered

New Oil from Germany Stops Pain Instantly in Many Cases

For years the cause of rheumatism has been laid to a dozen different reasons. Learned doctors even disagreed among themselves. Only lately has it been definitely demonstrated that the real cause of many cases of rheumatism is the absorption by the body of poisons from some internal infection.

These poisons are absorbed by the blood and deposited in the joints and muscles, where they quickly set up inflammation and cause agonizing pain.

And now the same German chemistry that created those well-known pain-killers, Aspirin for headaches and Novocain for painless dentistry, has come forward with a newly discovered oil for rheumatic pain—stops the pain at once in many cases. This oil is so penetrating that it disappears in a few seconds after it is rubbed on the skin.

So astonishing have been the results from its use in Europe that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to give this oil to rheumatic sufferers in the city with a positive written guarantee, signed by themselves, to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if you do not get immediate relief from pain. If you are a sufferer from rheumatic pain, no matter how long standing, you owe it to yourself to try this wonderful new discovery on the no-risk offer and see how quickly the pains disappear. It is called Buhler Oil and is sold by all good druggists such as: Preuit-Dillehay, Albany Drug Co., Dillehay Bros., S. M. Thompson—Advt.

Moulton News

Moulton, Ala., Jan. 17.—Special.—The Lawrence County Board of Revenue had before it Thursday the largest number of delegates and interested men that it has ever listened to at one session. Twenty or more citizens from Courtland with Fred Rehmar as spokesman, several from Town Creek, a number from four or five rural centers north of Moulton, and practically all of the business men of Moulton presented a request to the board to arrange at once for construction of a hard surface road between Moulton, the center of the county, and some point connecting the Southern highway between Decatur and Sheffield, a road running practically due north of Moulton and intersecting the highway a mile east of Courtland seems the most feasible. The board began its hearing in the private office of the probate judge but the gathering was so large that it moved out into the main office, earnest pleas were made for cooperation between the two valleys of the county, the upper and lower and the incessant downpour of rain all afternoon, the knowledge of the road conditions, the mud covered clothes of the petitioners made an eloquent appeal for better roads that was stronger than the words of the delegates.

Near the close of the session a letter was read by Judge W. R. Jackson from a Hillsboro delegation asking postponement of action and stating that they had started but were forced to go back on account of road conditions, the Hillsboro people desire the road rebuilt between that point and Moulton. After an executive session of some length it was announced that another hearing would be granted on Thursday, January 17. It is understood that the State Highway commission will take over the construction of the highway hoped for and that funds for the county will be immediately forthcoming from business men of the lower valley.

The Harris Bridge over Town Creek in the west part of Lawrence county is to be rebuilt at once. Contract was let the past week for hauling the material from Leighton at a cost of ninety dollars and the construction is to be under the supervision of Gregg Preuit a member of the Board of Revenue. The main part of the structure is to be of steel with wooden approaches which are of considerable length. This bridge is one of the most important crossing that stream in the west part of the county and made all the more locally in the past year by the erection of the C. C. Smith school which would logically net a good part of its attendance from each side of the stream. The wooden structure has been repaired at considerable cost almost annually for many years and has been a source of discontent to the citizens of the section since steel bridges have been constructed at other crossings in the county.

The board of registrars of Lawrence County has announced its sittings to begin Monday, January 21.

RUPTURE

EXPERT CALLED TO HUNTSVILLE

Seeley Co.'s truss expert from Chicago will be at the Twickenham Hotel and will remain in Huntsville Tuesday only, January 22nd. He says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. Our representative will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section."

AMUSEMENTS

What the Press Agents Say

The latest big legitimate stage success to be adopted by the films is "The Hottentot," Willie Collier's successful comedy that rocked the entire country for two years.

Practically every stage success of the past decade which presents any pictorial value has been translated to the screen, but few have presented the wealth of material contained in Oak Her's big racing comedy.

After witnessing the stage play Mr. Ince immediately began negotiations to buy the film rights, which he finally did, paying $21,000. He recognized the tremendous possibilities of natural development in the play which he immediately chose for the first big comedy drama special on his current production schedule.

The correctness of the producer's lightning judgment is evident in the finished screen play which is more hilariously funny than the play and carries, in addition, all the wallops of outdoor action not possible with limited stage facilities. It took two production companies, weeks of time, tremendous expenditures and a good many broken bones to screen "The Hottentot."

1924, at Moulton the county seat for ten days and twenty-four other appointments at various points in the county beginning on February 5, at Morris Chapel and ending with one day session at Moulton, March 1, 1924. The members of the board are Jas. T. Masterson, chairman, recently appointed and the two former members, G. N. Craig and W. E. Simms.

W. A. Moles in charge of vital statistics for the Moulton precinct and considerable adjacent territory announces that his annual report for 1923 shows in his territory five births more than for 1922, the totals for the two years respectively being 218 and 213; the deaths for the two years were 72 and 80 giving eight more to 1923 than to the year before. The ration for the preceding three years has been about the same.

For the last quarter of 1923 the Moulton post office has transacted a large business for an inland place, more than $27,000 being represented in stamp sales and money orders issued. A bid for the carrying of the mail between Moulton and Hillsboro is called for to be considered the middle of the month, due to heavy mails and bad roads the task is an extremely difficult one for efficient service.

Fifty-seven years have passed since the end of the Civil war but there are many living who recall the fierce struggle, and today no less than one hundred four persons in Lawrence county receive pensions from the citizens who would return in this way the service rendered by the aged pensioners or their dependents in that struggle of two generations gone.

Judge J. F. Forney, attorney for the Forestry Department and Jack McDowell, ranger, were in Jasper for session of Federal court the last of the past week.

Jack Smith of Mount Hope, leading merchant and citizen of that prosperous little town, has returned from treatment in a Birmingham hospital.

S. L. Morrow, county agent, spent the latter half of the past week in Moulton.

Fred Gray, keeper of Lock B. Muscle Shoals, was in Moulton Thursday on business.

Mrs. Stovall of Anniston, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Jordan, returned Thursday to her home.

Clark Garth of Courtland has been in Moulton for the past several days with the family of his father-in-law, Mr. James T. Masterson.

Miss Ethel Young was called to Birmingham last week on account of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. L. B. Bradley who has been some time in a hospital but is now thought to be improving.

Clark Burch made a trip to Nashville last week to accompany Miss Irene his daughter back to her studies at David Lipscomb College.

Emmett Burch, member of the county board of education, was in Moulton on business Friday.

4 Ways you save by washing our way

Women who keep an accurate account of what it costs to wash at home, and what it costs to wash in this more modern way of ours, say this is what it saves:

Clothes

We conserve the life of clothes because we wash them without rubbing, in the purest of white soap and rainsoft water.

Time

A day and a half a week—fifteen minutes, your washing is done, and you have an entire day to yourself.

Energy

And because you are spared the hard work of washing, you save in energy and health—no tired arms and aching back after washday is over.

Money

Taking into consideration wages, meals, carfare, soap and supplies, this way of washing is really more economical from the standpoint of money also.

Try this method next washday. You'll find it much more satisfactory all around. Phone and we'll have a representative call.

DEACONS ORDAINED AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A largely attended meeting was held at the Decatur Baptist church Wednesday night when the following deacons were ordained: Prof. J. D. Garren, E. J. Polhill, A. T. Hanson, J. D. Sharp and B. D. Meadors.

The charge to the newly ordained officials of the church was delivered by Dr. W. P. Reeves, pastor of the Central Baptist church, while the ordination sermon was preached by Rev. S. D. Monroe, pastor of the First Baptist church of Albany whose theme was "The New Testament Church."

At the close of the ceremonies incident to the ordination of the deacons, the entire congregation came forward and gave the newly selected deacons and members of the board of deacons prior to Wednesday night the right hand of fellowship in token of loyalty and support.

The regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting was not held last night that service giving way to the ordination of the newly elected deacons.
